“ After a Bac Pro (a French vocational school-leaving qualification) in Mechanical Engineering and two years of industrial experience, I was looking for some specialised training that would allow me to increase my expertise and gain the essential practical experience I would need to pursue a related career. I was at a trade show, when I met Derichebourg's Evolution Formation team who explained the essentials of the Aircraft Cabin Integrator training programme to me: a convivial atmosphere, a high-quality instruction delivered by experienced trainers, and an impressive range of training equipment. ”

“ After 22 years in the construction industry, I was looking for a new challenge. As an aviation enthusiast, retraining as an airframe Fitter / Assembler offered me the possibility of a career change, despite my age, in a sector with a strong need for this type of profile. With instruction from aviation-industry experts, I was able to train on ATR fuselages using specialised equipment, and under real conditions on a section of an A340. If I were to describe the Derichebourg Evolution Formation Training Centre in a few words, I'd say: teaching expertise, skills transfer, and guaranteed quality. ”
